

NOW DISCUSSING ROAD MATERIAL

Automobile Committee Will Decide as to What Kind of Speedway to Build.

BUILDER FAVORS CRUDE OIL

TRAIN WILL TAKE ENTHUSIASTS OVER ROUTE TODAY.

On account of a small attendance of members of the committee of the Salt Lake Automobile club at the meeting held in the office of Dr. W. F. Beer yesterday afternoon, no definite action was taken on the awarding of the contract for the building of the road between Salt Lake and Safford. W. F. Beer and C. W. Daniels of the Salt Lake Automobile club were the only members of the committee present. Contractors J. H. Hanley, Jake Zalegh, Harmon & Raleigh and William March were present, and discussed various means of building the automobile road and what would be the most suitable material.

Mr. Hanley, who has had charge of the building of the road from Federal Heights, and who has spent many years in this line of business, said that the best road possible could be built by tamping crude oil into the soil, the oil to be worked in thoroughly for a depth of six inches. He said that the crude oil used for this purpose contains 98 per cent solid matter, and makes a road far superior to the best asphalt.

"This method of plowing and of tamping in the oil has proved a great success with road builders of southern California," said Mr. Hanley. "The method is the most up-to-date in use, and I have inspected many roads built under this system. All were found to be in excellent condition and most suitable for automobile use."

Today a special train will be run to Safford having on board the road committee of the Salt Lake Automobile club and other members of the club who are interested in the proposed road. The train will leave the Salt Lake depot at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

When the ground has been gone over by the contractors who are expected to bid on the proposed road, the subject of the material to be used will be taken up by the committee, and final action taken as to what kind of speedway will be built. It is expected this meeting will be held the early part of this week and the contracts for the building of the road soon afterwards or just as soon as the contractors can get their bids in shape to submit to the promoters.

HAS FRACTURED HIP.

Fred Johnson, residing at 552 East Third South street, last night sustained a fractured hip by being thrown from a car No. 45 of the First South street line. The accident occurred shortly after 8 o'clock at the corner of First South and Second West streets and the car was immediately moved to the L. D. S. hospital, where the company physician attended him.

The exact cause of the accident is still unexplained. The car, which was almost filled with passengers, stopped at the Second West street corner to take on more passengers. According to witnesses who were on the rear platform, Johnson had been standing on the step, and although he was not observed, it is the belief of the witnesses that he stepped to the platform to permit the passengers to enter the car, and in attempting to board the car as it started he missed his footing.

VERY BOLD THEFT.

An unusually bold and unique theft was reported to the police yesterday by Frank Mullen, who complained that he had been stolen from Eighth West and First South street several thousand feet of lumber, which was to be used in the construction of a building there. The quantity of the theft or thieves is exhibited in the list of the missing lumber: Eight timbers 10x14, one long, twelve pieces 2x4, 22 feet long and eight pieces 2x4, 22 feet long.

The lumber was stolen some time during Friday night, and a wagon necessarily used to carry it away. So far the police have been unable to obtain any clue to the lumber thieves.

ACTRESS REMEMBERED.

Miss Blanche Odgers, who has been Willard Mack's leading lady since he opened in stock here, and who made her farewell appearance at the Bungalow last evening, was pleasantly remembered by her associates. She has been playing the presentation of a beautiful gold bracelet clasped around a huge bouquet of violets. It was handed over to her by one of the performers. Miss Odgers is said to be a peculiarly charming disposition and she is as popular with the public as she is with the company. She has been playing for twenty-five weeks in stock companies and feels she needs the long rest which she will take on the coast. Her place in the Mack company will be taken by Miss Mary Hall.

GROUNDBENEATH SWITCH ENGINE

A. W. Farnum Meets Death While at Work in North Yards of O. S. L.

RUN DOWN BY LOCOMOTIVE

HEARS CRY OF ENGINEER, BUT IS APPARENTLY BEWILDERED.

While engaged in his nightly work A. W. Farnum, a switchman in the Oregon Short Line yards, last night after coupling two cars, stepped backwards a few feet to meet his death under a locomotive.

The accident occurred in the north yards about 6:10 o'clock. Farnum had been engaged in making up freight train No. 354, the cars of which were being collected on track No. 7. He had just coupled two cars and, as he stepped backwards, he failed to notice the approach of engine No. 3603, which was backing down track No. 8.

He evidently heard the warning cry of the engineer, but seemed to lose his head. He turned around in a bewildered manner, but remained on the track. In the short distance the engineer was unable to stop his engine, and Farnum was struck down and ground to death.

The engine was in charge of Engineer W. Middlemiss, with A. P. Olson, fireman, and Sam Shill, pilot. Following the accident Coroner Stanley A. Hanks was notified, and after he had viewed the corpse and learned the details of the accident, he ordered the body taken to Evans' mortuary.

Farnum was aged about 45 years, and resided at 545 West First North street. He is survived by a wife, two daughters and a son.

Farnum just recently began work as a switchman, having formerly been employed as a watchman in the Short Line service.

NOT GUILTY IS JURY'S VERDICT

David Logan Is Released After Trial for the Murder of Dick Hawkins.

David Logan, who shot and killed Dick Hawkins, another negro, in the saloon run by Candy Bill McKenzie at 33 Commercial street, will escape penalty, according to the verdict of the jury in Judge Lewis' division of the district court. The case was given to the jury at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and a verdict of not guilty was rendered soon after 4 o'clock.

A verdict of murder in the first degree was not expected, but the evidence seemed clear as to the shooting, and it was thought the jury might make it manslaughter. There was strong presumption of self-defense, and the jury gave the defendant the benefit of the doubt. Logan was charged with the death of Albert Day, the other, was not so charged. INVENTOR STORES SUN'S RAYS BY MEANS OF ELECTRICAL DEVICE

George S. Cove, who has a workshop on a little side street in Somerville, Mass., has enjoyed a local reputation for a good many years as an inventive genius, and he has accomplished some really remarkable things through his knowledge of the powers and eccentricities of electricity. He has evolved a good many useful ideas and has been in the habit of making electricity help him carry them out. Now he has seemingly solved a problem that a good many scientists have been working on for years, and if the sun doesn't go out suddenly, Cove may, before he concludes, bring an era of continual sunshine for all parts of the country. The problem just solved by him is that of storing up the sun's rays and converting them into electrical energy. He discovered the process by accident, and is so sure of it that he believes a child could construct all the apparatus he uses for the business.

PNEUMONIA PROVES FATAL

August A. Koch, Well Known Railroad Clerk, Succumbs After a Few Days' Illness.

The cause of death was pneumonia, and the victim had been ill only a few days. On Friday advice was to the effect that he was improving. TROUBATIONS OF WEDDED COUPLES

Husband Complains Christian Science Has Made Wife Unfaithful.

TWO WIVES ASK DIVORCES

THEY TELL STORIES OF HARSH CRUELITIES IN COMPLAINTS.

Two much Christian Science is alleged by Herschel B. Lyman as his defense to a divorce action brought by his wife Edith. Both the complaint and the answer were filed yesterday. Mrs. Lyman asserts that for eight years Lyman has been treating her cruelly and has been guilty of causing her bodily injury, particularly on Jan. 29 last, when he struck and choked her, called her a scoundrel and used profane and indecent language to her, ordering her to leave the house. He has, she says, violated an unbreakable temper and has given away to it many times during the past eight years. She says he has neglected her home duties, and has neglected her home duties, and has neglected her home duties, and has neglected her home duties.

Lyman is a dealer in leather goods and carries a stock worth $2,500. She says he also has a residence worth $4,000, encumbered by $2,000, and—that his income is not less than $1,500 a month. She asks for $100 suit money, temporary alimony of $50 a month, and a restraining order preventing him from disposing of his property and from molesting the custody of their one child, America Lyman, 11 years old.

Lyman's answer makes the following allegation: "That the plaintiff, against the wishes and protest of this defendant, has been for several years last past and now is engaged in the business, art or profession of a Christian Science practitioner or healer, and as such has been and still is engaged in the art, or profession of attempting to heal the sick by Christian Science methods, and, as such, has sought and obtained the society of other people, and has neglected her home duties; has repeatedly been out late at night; has refused and neglected to prepare the meals for this defendant and to perform the duties of a wife."

He further says that in her practice as a Christian Science practitioner, she has received large sums and that her income is larger than his own. He denies the ill treatment, and says that his stock is worth only $1,000 and his house $2,000; also that he owes bills amounting to $1,000. He asks that the suit be dismissed.

Another Wife's Story.

After living for less than six months with Willard Marchant, his wife, Viola Marchant, says that life with him has become unbearable and she is asking the district court to grant her a divorce on the ground of cruelty. This cruelty, as she stated, consisted of her husband's regretted his marriage on Oct. 12, a week after the ceremony, and of having accused her of being a prostitute, and of having threatened to kill her. During the same month she says that he asserted that unless she left him he would leave her. She also complains that he stopped providing the necessities of life Oct. 24. She asks for no alimony, but wants her maiden name of Rye-nearson.

Police Discover Juvenile Victims of Drink Lying Behind a Bill Board.

Three more boys, ranging in age from 14 to 17 years, were taken into custody yesterday afternoon at the corner of First West and South Temple streets by Patrolmen West and McErdan. The boys were in a shocking state of intoxication when the officers found them lying behind a billboard. When taken to the station, the boys were unable to give even their names, and in a mumble only could tell that some man had given them a bottle of whiskey. The boys will be turned over to the juvenile court.

As Mr. Price was leaving his office yesterday noon he struck a match on the wall to light a pipe, but the head of the match flew off and into Mr. Price's eye. The pupil was badly burned. Dr. G. B. Ploutz, a specialist, dressed the optic and predicts no permanent ill effects.

SNATCHES POCKETBOOK.

Purse Is Grabbed on Street From Mrs. J. E. Smith.

Mrs. J. E. Smith, residing at the Richmond house on East Third South street, suffered the loss of a valuable alligator purse and a small sum of money last night, through the stealthy but bold work of a purse-snatcher.

Mrs. Smith was just emerging from the hallway of the Richmond house to the street, to join her husband, when the thief, described as a young man of slender build, with a soft hat slouched down over his face, stepped out of the shadow, grabbed the pocketbook and ran down the street. The theft was accomplished so quickly that Mrs. Smith could not recover from her surprise in time to give an alarm. The fact that she was hampered by carrying her husband's overcoat also aided the thief in securing the purse. The purse contained a little over a dollar, but was itself valuable. The police were unable last night to locate the thief from the description given.
